

Lucca Italy

BEGINNING OF MAY

Lucca, Italy proposes hosting the Buhurt International World Championship as part of a brand-new Medieval Festival, with the World Championship serving as its flagship event and central attraction.

The organisers aim to establish the festival as a major international celebration of medieval culture, combining historical authenticity, cultural activities, and world-class sporting competition in the heart of Lucca.

The vision is to bring full-contact medieval combat into one of Europe's most renowned cultural event destinations, creating a unique festival dedicated to medieval history, sport, and culture.

The Municipality of Lucca is fully aligned with the project and committed to providing the best possible locations throughout the city.

With several suitable venues available, the organisers propose working together with Buhurt International to identify the most appropriate spaces based on the requirements of each competition category and accompanying activities.

Approx daily cost breakdown per person covering accommodation, meals, local transport,
and basic sightseeing:

Budget: $70 (€65) per day:

Hostel dorm beds, quick eats like panini or pizza by the slice, and walking the historic walls.

Mid-Range: $159 (€147) per day:

Charming 3-star historic center hotels, sit-down trattoria dinners with local wine, and tower climbing fees.

Luxury: $299+ (€276+) per day:

Luxury historic hotels, fine Tuscan dining, and private wine-tasting tours.